

NICKY HOWARD MASTERING

Final Delivery

Here are your final masters! I want you to be delighted with the way your music sounds. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you need any changes to these (no matter how small).

You are responsible for approving the audio and metadata content of all masters I supply before they are manufactured, replicated, duplicated, and distributed.

Upon receiving your master's files, please thoroughly review all files and metadata before sharing them with third parties. I strive to avoid any errors when providing audio. However, you are responsible as the client to ensure no mistakes exist before approving the project and verifying that the correct materials are sent to the appropriate destination.

Once you have downloaded your final masters, please ensure they are securely stored in at least two locations after the project has received approval.

When it comes to releasing your music (physical & digital), please *credit:

For digital releases, this is often part of the 'producer' tag when uploading to your distributor.*

Mastered by Nicky Howard

And please feel free to tag me on Instagram (@masteredbynicky) or message me any release information so I can share it with my networks.

Thank you for working with me and trusting me with your music!

Nicky